

WaistLess Foods Website Proposal

Prepared By :

AMBER FITZGERALD

Executive Summary

WaistLess Foods has built a strong presence on Instagram, where Chef Amber Fitzgerald shares recipes, eco-conscious cooking tips, and private chef services. However, the brand currently lacks a centralized website to tie together recipes, services, events, and lifestyle storytelling. Bookings and promotions are handled manually, limiting scalability as her audience grows.

This proposal offers a shift toward a structured, scalable platform — through a CMS-driven website, built-in bookings, e-commerce, and analytics. With experience delivering structured solutions for clients across culinary, lifestyle, e-commerce, and community platforms, I will help WaistLess Foods establish a professional online hub that supports Chef Amber's services, connects her to new audiences, and creates new revenue opportunities.

About WaistLess Foods – Current Digital Context

WaistLess Foods currently operates primarily on Instagram, where Chef Amber shares recipes, eco-conscious cooking tips, and highlights from her private chef services. While her content resonates with a growing audience, the brand lacks a centralized digital home that ties together recipes, services, events, and lifestyle storytelling.

Content is currently platform-dependent, making it harder for new audiences (especially outside Instagram) to discover Chef Amber's work. Event promotion and booking inquiries are handled manually via direct messages and email, which is not scalable as demand grows.

Immediate digital needs include:

- A dedicated website hub to showcase Chef Amber's recipes, services, and healthy lifestyle philosophy.
- A CMS (Contentful) so Chef Amber or her team can easily manage recipes, events, and blog posts.
- A basic e-commerce system to sell digital products (meal plans, recipe books) and handle class/event bookings.
- A newsletter system to build direct communication with Chef Amber's audience.
- Analytics setup (GA4, Meta Pixel) to track engagement and customer behavior.

Additionally, content production will need to be supported with a mix of photography, stock images, and AI-generated visuals (particularly for events and lifestyle scenes).

Market Analysis

WaistLess Foods enters a culinary landscape shaped by both local Houston chefs and global plant-based influencers. To position Chef Amber effectively, we reviewed competitor models:

Gaz Oakley (Avant-Garde Vegan)

- Built a global following (1.6M YouTube subs, 3 cookbooks) by evolving from chef → influencer → eco-lifestyle guru.
- Competes on innovation, scale, and sustainability.
- Takeaway for Chef Amber: She doesn't need to be global right away — her strength is being approachable, local, and service-driven (bookable private chef experiences in Houston).

Chef Evelyn Garcia (JŪN / Kin HTX)

- Houston-based fine-dining chef, CIA-trained, Top Chef finalist.
- Website is polished, authority-driven, restaurant-focused.
- Takeaway for Chef Amber: Differentiate by being digital-first, family-oriented, eco-conscious, with recipes + lifestyle storytelling that Evelyn's restaurant site doesn't emphasize.

Sweet Potato Soul (Jenné Claiborne)

- Recipe hub with hundreds of vegan posts, SEO-optimized, supported by videos + cookbooks.
- Monetizes through books, meal plans, affiliates, sponsorships.
- Takeaway for Chef Amber: Instead of competing globally on vegan SEO, Chef Amber can win as a Houston-based healthy-eating chef with a dual diet niche (vegan + pescatarian + chicken, no pork) and service offerings (classes, dining).

Black Girls Who Brunch (Erika)

- Local Houston food blogger, attorney by day, curates where to eat, events, and reviews.
- Builds community around Houston's dining scene.
- Takeaway for Chef Amber: Differentiate by being a creator and chef, not a reviewer. WaistLess Foods can attract Houston locals looking for healthy food experiences and private chef bookings, which Erika doesn't offer.

Positioning Conclusion

Chef Amber's opportunity is clear: WaistLess Foods can stand out as Houston's healthy culinary hub by blending:

- Chef services + events (like Evelyn, but more personal).
- Healthy recipes & eco tips (like Jenné, but local + approachable).
- Community-centered storytelling (like Erika, but actionable: "cook, book, or join").

Strategic Shift in Focus

Goal: Move WaistLess Foods from being an Instagram-first passion project into a scalable, best-in-class healthy culinary brand through:

- Greater control and flexibility with a CMS-driven website.
- Enhanced visibility and engagement through structured content (recipes, eco tips, services).

- Stronger community building through newsletters and interactive blog content.

Closing Statement

With the right website, WaistLess Foods can evolve from an Instagram-first presence into a professional lifestyle brand that attracts clients, showcases Chef Amber's culinary expertise, and builds a loyal community around healthy eating. This project is not just about a website — it's about giving Chef Amber a platform to grow her services, share her story, and create new opportunities in Houston and beyond.

I'm ready to support this journey as your behind-the-scenes web strategist and developer, helping to connect the dots between design, functionality, and long-term scalability.

If you're ready to move forward, we can begin by selecting the most suitable package and preparing the initial content so the website is ready to present as Chef Amber's birthday gift.
